

Kim,

I can't tell you how grateful Stephen and I are to you for all of your amazing creativity and talent. Your work on our wedding invitation package really made the entire event. It set the tone for the type of feel we were looking for when it came to our wedding – elegant but also relaxed and fun while at the same time providing a glimmer of a sense of humor. We received so many compliments on every detail of our wedding package.

It all began with the save-the-date and the invitation which peaked all of our guest's curiosity for the event. People spoke about how the invitation gave everyone a sense of familiarity with one another (a common ground for conversation and an easy way to relate to each other immediately the day of the wedding). The pieces also really provided detailed insight into our relationship and life together – how we met, dated, and fell in love. Everyone really enjoyed either reliving the stories of our relationship, or reading about all of the details for the first time. Many of our guests have used our wedding invitation as a coffee table book in their own home that guests have enjoyed reading while visiting. People have spoken of our invitations as “gifts,” as being “so extraordinary they can't believe it is an invitation,” and many have said that they “have never seen anything like it before.”

Then came all of the other little details...the programs, menu cards, favor tags, the wonderful “dance” graphic projected on the tent, and the thank you cards. People were completely overwhelmed by how simply wonderful all of the graphics were and how the theme enhanced the event as a whole. Simply put, everyone was blown away.

Stephen and I, as well as my family, were also blown away by your professionalism, creativity, and sheer talent. Not only was it easy working with you, but it was extremely enjoyable. We were able to describe our event and the feel that we were looking for and you provided us the ability to sit back comfortably and watch as a brilliant concept was developed. There was never a time during the development of our wedding invitation pieces where I felt as though you missed the mark or just weren't getting what we wanted to convey to our guests. You completely delivered across the board.

Your talent and your work are timeless and I feel so fortunate to have had the opportunity to work with you. I have to say that there are so many people that we worked with while planning our wedding and working with you was such a delight. Not only are you a pleasure to be around and communicate with, but your passion for what you do translates beautifully into your work. Your pieces are detailed, elegant, filled with history and tradition, pleasing to the imagination, eye-catching, beautiful, and also end up becoming a keepsake.

Thank you for everything. You really made our wedding memorable and very special.
